

Patient guide to the Regional Joint Assessment Program

Your family doctor has referred you to the Regional Joint Assessment Program. This program helps people with bone and joint health conditions.

You will be seen by several members of the health care team.

The team will:

- review your medical history
- ask you to answer some questions about your health
- ask you to complete some tests to assess your sore joint

The information collected by the Regional Joint Assessment Program will be used by the team to determine the best treatment needed for you.

You will be contacted by the Regional Joint Assessment Program with an appointment date and time.

If you have any questions about your appointment please call 1-888-868-5568.
