

My sister's name was Sarah Anne, a happy go lucky girl who had everything she wanted. She was 23 when she died by suicide following the death of our father two months prior.

There are so many questions of why, someone would do such a thing and why she never called anyone.

I would like to speak further with you about this, and I just wanted to let you know its a great thing you are doing and I hope to be a part of this moving project... Suicide needs to be talked about more !
