Providing Client Centred Care

Welcome

St. Joseph's Healthcare Hamilton has a hemodialysis unit at the Charlton Campus and one at the King Campus as well as a unit at White Pines Wellness Centre in Ohsweken, Ontario.

When you start hemodialysis you will have your treatments at one of these sites. However, there are times when you may move to another site for treatment.

When you first begin your treatment, a member of the dialysis team will greet you and tell you what you can expect about your care here. We are all partners in your care and want you and your family to feel welcome here.

Hemodialysis as a Treatment

Since hemo means blood, hemodialysis is a treatment that cleans out wastes, extra salt and water from your blood. A dialyzer acts as an artificial kidney that is attached to a machine to clean your blood.

Each treatment takes about 4 hours with extra time needed to put you on and take you off the machine. The amount of time you spend at dialysis depends on your doctor's orders.

On average, most people have 3 dialysis treatments a week. The number of times you have dialysis depends on your clinical needs and may vary. This is reviewed with you when you come for dialysis treatments.

Each time you arrive for treatment, your nurses will ask you about how you are feeling. Let your nurses know if you do not feel well. They will contact your nephrologist and/or primary care nurse to decide on a dialysis plan.

If you ever need to be admitted to the hospital for medical reasons, the hemodialysis unit will be advised and arrangements will be made for your dialysis treatments.

Service Excellence

All of the staff, doctors, volunteers and learners follow a set of "Standards of Behaviour." Our goals are to:

- treat everyone with dignity and respect
- work together to provide excellent care and service

To keep everyone safe, St. Joseph's is committed to providing a safe environment for all patients, visitors and staff where acts of aggression and violence are not tolerated. This is a requirement of Ontario Violence in the Workplace Legislation. Violent behaviors include throwing objects, shaking fists, verbal abuse and threatening to harm others.

Members of the Health Care Team

You will meet many people on your health care team. The health care team works closely with you, your family and friends. Any time you have questions or concerns, members of the health care team are here to help you.

The nephrologist/designate is a doctor who is a kidney expert. Your nephrologist will work with you to decide on your treatment. The nephrologist will continue to direct your care now that you have started dialysis.

The primary care nurse (PCN) works with you and your nephrologist. The PCN knows your medical history and works with the health care team to plan your care.

Hemodialysis nurses are specially educated and trained registered nurses who will help you learn about your kidney problem, help with your dialysis treatments, and teach you how to best manage your treatment, set goals and manage your lifestyle. These nurses are also your advocates and will support you when you want to talk to other members of the health care team.

Dialysis access coordinators assess, plan, coordinate and monitor the care of your dialysis access. Regular clinics with the surgeons are part of the program workup for a dialysis access. These nurses monitor and manage the care of your access to ensure it is working at its best to provide you with a good dialysis treatment.

Hemodialysis technologists work with the hemodialysis nurses to help you with dialysis treatments. They look after the dialysis machines and also provide some of your clinical care.

A dietitian can help you, your family and friends with your nutrition and diet when needed. You can ask to meet with a dietitian any time during your treatments and this can be arranged.

A social worker can help you and your family cope with the many changes that kidney disease brings. For example, it may affect your ability to work, your living arrangements or your financial situation. The social worker can also help you with arranging transportation by DARTS for treatments if needed. You can ask to meet with a social worker any time during your treatments and this can be arranged.
